

Head of Operations

Lothian Buses is an award winning company operating out of Scotland's capital city delivering a comprehensive network of services throughout Edinburgh and the Lothians. With 700 buses covering 70 routes, we have bucked recent national trends in bus travel with our continued patronage growth.

As one of Edinburgh's top rated employers with over 2,500 staff working across several sites citywide, we continue to invest in both our people and modern innovative technology to ensure that we remain at the forefront of the transport industry.

As the result of an internal promotion we are now looking to recruit a Head of Operations to join us and provide direct support to the Operations Director. You will be an innovative leader and thinker and put people and the customer experience at the heart of everything you do, whilst striving for the highest levels of service delivery in day to day operations.

This is a great opportunity for an experienced and ambitious individual to further develop their career by playing an integral part in the future success of our progressive company.

If you are interested in exploring this opportunity a job description is available on request. To apply, please send your CV and current remuneration to Simon Allbutt, Human Resources Director. SAllbutt@LothianBuses.co.uk
